

Multiple Choice Sample Questions
ITEC Unit824 – Provide Facial Electrotherapy Treatments

1	Which of the following skin types would gain the most benefit from indirect high frequency?		1
A	Sensitive skin	B	Dry skin
C	Oily skin	D	Blemished skin
			B
2	At what stage of the faradic treatment can the current be increased?		2
A	When the machine is first turned on	B	During the stimulation period
C	After the fifth treatment	D	During the resting period
			B
3	Which of the following is a general effect of microcurrent treatments?		3
A	Increased cellular regeneration	B	Decreased vascularity
C	A chemical reaction on the skin	D	A drying bactericidal effect on the skin
			A
4	Which of the following contraindications to galvanism requires medical approval prior to treatment?		4
A	Small 8-month-old scar tissue	B	Anyone under the influence of recreational drugs
C	Body/face piercing	D	Hypotension
			D
5	Why is it important to give home care advice?		5
A	To ensure the therapist/practitioner receives commission on treatments and/or sales	B	To ensure the client gives positive feedback
C	To alter the effects of the treatment	D	To prevent and/or control any contra-actions to the treatment
			D